Top ranked Italian restaurant chain in Pittsburgh, PA

MONTE CELLO'S Website

After almost 40 years in business, you could say that Monte Cello's has built a reputation as one of the premier Italian Restaurant chains in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. However, the owners and operators don't want to take any of the success for granted. That's one of the reasons why they continue to strive to make each and every dining experience unique and satisfying.

More than 175 million slices of mouth-watering pizza have been sold since the first Monte Cello's restaurant opened its doors in the North Hills. Since those modest beginnings, the group has expanded to five inviting restaurants from Cranberry down to the Ross Township location.

Founders Joe Wadlow and Domenic Ricci, along with everyone at Monte Cello's, want to make your special night out to be fantastic. That's why they keep your family's budget in mind, all the while refusing to sacrifice quality or taste. It's that attention to detail that sets Monte Cello's Restaurants apart from everyone else.

Who even is this ‘Houlihan’?

Houlihan's, Website

We're glad you asked. The first Houlihan's opened in a location that was formerly known as Tom Houlihan's Men's Wear. As a placeholder, the blueprints had it labeled with "Houlihan's Old Place." Despite the fact that the namesake of our restaurant never actually set foot in it, the name stuck. Eventually, we dropped the "Old Place" and here we are.

Today, we lovingly call Leawood, KS our Headquarters/Home. And with many locations nationwide, you can get a taste of home AKA high quality, from-scratch food and crazy delicious craft cocktails, almost anywhere you go. Because life's too short to eat mediocre food.

TL;DR: We're pretty freakin' awesome.

We make our food the hard way — from scratch with quality ingredients. And whatever your food mood or lifestyle needs, our menu is flexible, with small-and-large portion entrées, vegetarian options and nutritive whole foods throughout.

ALWAYS ADDING NEW MENU ITEMS + DELICIOUS COCKTAILS. CHECK THEM OUT!

At Waffles, INCaffeinated, we believe that breakfast should not be excluded from fine dining. We offer unique, delicious and artistically plated dishes prepared from scratch using a wide variety of ingredients. We start with a sourdough waffle, perfectly prepared, buttery, crispy and deliciously golden brown. Next, and to your liking, we create sweet waffle dishes such as the Megaberry with blueberries and raspberries, inside and out topped with fresh cut strawberries, raspberry sauce, and whipped cream. Or we make it a savory plate such as the Breakfast Magic with bacon, cheddar cheese, and scallions inside and out, crowned with a fried egg. We even have a Build Your Own option where YOU design the waffle to YOUR specific taste! Additionally, our waffle dishes may be requested as gluten and dairy free!

But we aren't just waffles! We have omelets, French toasts, sandwiches, and sides. "Wake up" your meal with one of our gourmet coffees and teas. Our house coffee is 100% Arabica and locally roasted.

Bring your family, friends, and co-workers for the most unique and delicious breakfast in town! ■

The Vocelli Story

The Vocelli Story begins in a mining town in Zonguldak, Turkey where Varol Ablak was born. His father was a mining engineer so Varol's childhood was spent moving from one mining town to another as his dad followed the work.

This journey took them from Turkey to Essen, Germany and then on to Lynn Lake, Canada in northern Manitoba. When Varol was 8 years old, the Ablak family came to the United States in 1969 to St Paul, Virginia. The moving continued to mining towns in West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and eventually settling in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Varol planned to follow in his father's footsteps and become an engineer, but after he completed three years of college in the industrial engineering program at the University of Pittsburgh, he decided the engineering life was not for him. Wanting to start his own business and fueled by an entrepreneurial spirit, he left college in search of a more rewarding path. One that didn't leave him at the mercy of a job transfer or a company layoff.

That search led him to a job washing dishes for a local pizza restaurant in Biloxi, Mississippi. It was there that Varol fell in love with the pizza business and the fun of succeeding with a hard working team.

At 24 years old, Varol opened his first business, an all-you-can-eat pizza buffet franchise in Chalmette, Louisiana, a suburb of New Orleans. The venture was very successful so Varol's father, Harry, and the family moved from Pittsburgh to New Orleans to also learn the pizza business. Within 6 months, Varol expanded the family business and opened a second store with his father in Covington, Louisiana.

The father-son team loved working and building their businesses together, but with the pizza delivery industry skyrocketing, they sought to go back to Pittsburgh to launch a new business focusing on delivery and a much higher quality pizza. Varol and Harry sold their two stores in Louisiana and headed back to Pittsburgh, taking with them the lessons they had learned as franchisees.

Challenged with developing his own quality recipes, Varol created his new products from the finest ingredients available. The pizza recipes begin with a signature pizza sauce that is fresh-packed, never from concentrate. The tomatoes are rushed from the farm fields of California and canned within 6 hours after they are packed and preservatives are never used. The dough is made with the best spring wheat available and mixed with extra virgin olive oil. The 100% mozzarella is a fresh, never frozen, all natural Wisconsin cheese. And all of Varol's award-winning, artisan pizzas, are crafted from family recipes.

On January 30th, 1988, Varol and his family opened the first store in Mt. Lebanon, a suburb of Pittsburgh. That same year they opened a second location in McMurray, and a third location in Oakland came just four months later. Over the next four years, there would be 20 restaurants open in the Pittsburgh area. The focus on a high quality pizza delivered and an aggressive marketing plan quickly put the small company on a path to success.

Varol began to receive requests from some of his team members who, much like he had a decade earlier, saw the potential for profit and freedom as business owners. They wanted to partner with Varol and learn from his successes. He couldn't resist the opportunity to work with fellow entrepreneurs. As CEO of the new startup, Varol understood that the most important recipe was the people.

In 1993, Varol began to realize the potential of the business and the first franchise was sold. The rest, as they say, is history.

Today, Vocelli Pizza has approximately 2,000 employees and over 100 stores open and in development. Varol has built a winning support team at the Franchise Support Center and a team of successful franchisees. "For us to succeed, the franchisees must succeed" says Varol.

Varol began his entrepreneurial dream with a wish for something better. Today, he offers franchisees a chance to make their own business dreams come true by sharing his proven recipe for success.
